- Member Updates and Discussion
 - Instrument scholarship program discussion- Daymon Pascual led this discussion, mentioning that the Tri-M club (Tri-M Music Honor Society) and the Athletics and Activities Booster are looking for assistance and donations, and that FACC should reach out to them as well to build on the instrument scholarship program discussed at the previous meeting. Daymon identified Kate Batista as the teacher to contact. Staff will contact her with the same list of questions that we asked music teachers.
- Staff Updates
 - Movie Night was held on August 29, screening The Sandlot. Three FACC members were present. Colisco donated a dozen + items as door prizes.
 - A concrete pad has been poured for I'm the Boss's relocation to the Adventure Park. Adventure Park staff asked if there could be small signage to go with the statue, to which FACC agreed.
 - Staff has reached out to Middle and High School music teachers about the Instrument Scholarship Program and is waiting to hear back.
 - A photo booth has been secured for Trick or Treat Street on Halloween.
 - Wassail Mug design has been finalized, and mugs have been ordered.
- Projects
 - PRA Mural artist selection- Greg Gossel is the artist chosen from three finalists. Thoughts on the designs provided by Adventure Park staff were shared with FACC via email after the selection was made. Content direction was given to have Greg consolidate his three designs into one that is cohesive and relevant to PRA activities, such as Nordic skiing, disc golf, running, BMX biking, mountain biking, skateboarding, tubing, etc. They would also like to see some animal elements in the design. Both other artists were identified as strong artists to keep in mind for the right space. Jamie Callahan was identified as the FACC member who will work with staff and the artist to meet the October installation date.

- Main Street Waste Receptacle Art- Nico Cruz, from TOF Community Development, was present and shared about this project. Elisa Gomez was selected as the artist. Direction was provided to review a handful of adjacent color palettes, not primary, and to use the opportunity for a punch of color without overdoing it. The floral inspiration was mentioned in her proposal, and FACC would like to see local flora as the inspiration but remaining abstract. Jamie Callahan and Megan Testin have been selected as sub-committee members to work with the artist through edits to meet the October deadline.
